

Copeland Receives ACCE Special Recognition

Dr. Leon Copeland received Special Recognition from the American Council for Construction Education (ACCE) for serving two consecutive terms on the Board of Trustees 1995-2006. The award was presented at the ACCE Annual Meeting in Milwaukee, Wisconsin in July 2006. Dr. Copeland stated, “It was an honor and privilege to serve ACCE and the construction industry in improving construction education through the accreditation process”.

The mission of the ACCE is to be the a leading global advocate of quality construction education; and to promote, support, and accredit quality construction education programs. More than sixty baccalaureate degree programs and nine associate degree programs across the nation are accredited by ACCE. The UMES Construction Management Technology Program has maintained ACCE accreditation since 1991.

For more information, please contact: Dr. Leon L. Copeland, Professor and chair,

Department of Construction Management Technology at (410) 651-6468, llcopeland@umes.edu or Maureen McNeill, Office of Public Relations at (410) 651-7580

or memcneill@umes.edu