NATIONAL STUDENT BUSINESS LEAGUE (NSBL)

The National Student Business League (NSBL) serves as the collegiate division of the National Business League (<http://www.aaregistry.com/detail.php?id=323>). The purpose of the NSBL is to bring a sense of unity to business students as well as give an opportunity for business students to meet, interact, and conduct business ventures in an orderly fashion. NSBL has a purpose to incorporate a business aspect of learning and to sponsor information sessions and other awareness programs to make students conscious of the business environment. The National Business League was an American organization founded in Boston, Massachusetts in 1900 by Booker T. Washington.
