Welcome Home from Hollywood!

We're delighted to welcome back to campus Ms. Patricia Kiah, a native of Princess Anne and a child of the UMES community, as our distinguished guest and keynote speaker. Ms. Kiah's talk, "My Journey from Social Work to Show Business," traces the personal and professional arc that led her from the Eastern Shore of Maryland to the West Coast and Hollywood, CA.

Ms. Kiah is the daughter of Thomas Waldo & Lois Robinson Kiah and grew up on the campus of Maryland State College. Her paternal grandfather was Thomas Henry Kiah, the 5th president of what was then Princess Anne Academy. Her father taught in the education department when the campus was named Maryland State College.

She was educated in the public schools of Somerset County. The current Kiah Hall was her high school. Ms. Kiah earned her BA degree in Sociology from Morgan State University. Ms. Kiah has lived in Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Manhattan, London, England and Hollywood. She has worked in social work, fashion, advertising, film & television. For the last 10 years, she has been the Art Department Coordinator on NCIS, a popular CBS TV series.

Pat keeps physically active doing marathons, spinning, hiking, camping, cycling and gardening. And, she enjoys traveling. Politics also keeps her very busy in the Hollywood and Los Angeles communities. The other half of her heartbeat is her husband for the past 29 years, Andy Shuttleworth.
