UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND EASTERN SHORE

HAWKSPITALITY!

consistently pursuing customer service excellence in all we do
What is Hawkspitality™?

It’s a crazy word that reminds our UMES Hawk family of our desire to deliver quality customer service.

Hawkspitality is the embodiment of our team’s desire to have an “attitude of eminence “in each encounter with our teammates and our guests.”
Why Hawkspitality™?

FACTA NON VERBA. DEEDS NOT WORDS.

The University’s motto reminds us that actions speak louder than words. When it comes to customer service, we understand that the way we treat our teammates impacts the way we treat our guests and vice versa.

We are committed to creating a culture of eminence that is rooted in courtesy and customer service.

Through Hawkspitality, we will reverse:

• Deteriorating team morale (employee turnover, haphazard or non-existent teammate training)
• Inconsistent service delivery across divisions/departments (“Hawk Shuffle”) and
• Negative attitudes that suggest our university brand is consistent with poor customer service and lack of follow-through

GOAL 1:

Communicate university values to teammates and guests through multimedia platforms to drive organizational change.

- Develop and implement a Hawkspitality marketing plan for teammates and guests that uses multi-media platforms to communicate university values:
  - Comment boxes
  - Desktop mouse pads
  - Posters/fliers
  - Themed bulletin boards for teammate break areas
  - Social media campaigns
  - Orientation Video
  - UMES History Video
  - Interior/Exterior Signage
Goal No. 2

Create and sustain a work environment that values each team member’s contribution, promotes teamwork and supports engaged, enthusiastic, loyal, customer-centric team members.
GOAL 2:
Create and sustain a work environment that values each team member’s contribution, promotes teamwork and supports engaged, enthusiastic, loyal, customer-centric team members

- Create a Hawkspitality team that is comprised of at least one person from each division and major department to serve as an ambassador for Hawkspitality!
- Develop a comprehensive teammate orientation program for new teammates
- Develop a Hawkspitality employee of the month recognition program
- Develop a set of quarterly Hawkspitality events to engage team members (Hawkspitality Happy Hour, Off the Field Bulletin Boards, Hawkspitality Cards, Faculty/Staff Talent Show, President’s Back to School BBQ)
- Establish a Hawkspitality recognition program (ex: GEM Award for staff that consistently “GO THE EXTRA MILE” to deliver quality service)
- Develop ongoing training and professional development for team members throughout the year (each month, focusing on a different skill)
Hawkspitality

Goal No. 3

Create an environment where guests are welcome and treated with courtesy by providing consistent service delivery among all divisions and departments within the university.

Everyone Teammate Matters: More Than a “Brick Layer”

- Faculty don’t just teach, they train leaders of tomorrow.
- Staff don’t just push paper, they impact lives.
- Campus Life doesn't just throw parties, they provide opportunities for students to develop social skills.
- Physical plant staff such as housekeeping don’t just clean, they are the greeters of the campus-theirs is the first work that any guest sees.
- Dining services staff don’t just prepare food, they feed souls.
- Institutional Advancement doesn't just raise money, but builds lasting relationships with friends who will support the university over time.
- Athletics doesn't just play games, but build character, teamwork and interpersonal skills in student-athletes.
- Research and Economic Development doesn't just grow business, but plants seeds for future entrepreneurs.
Hawkspitality Service Ambassadors

- Those teammates from each division/department that are responsible for coordinating Hawkspitality efforts within their division/department (When selecting HSAs, attitudes matter more than titles)

- Hawkspitality Service Ambassadors can be spotted by their lanyards and special pins that they wear.

- Hawkspitality Service Ambassadors are keepers of our university’s culture of customer service

Components of a successful training day

- Friendly environment/training room
- Creative presentations
- Enthusiastic trainers
- Useful content
- Evaluations
• Have site set up an hour earlier than the start time (there are bound to be teammates who will arrive early. You don’t want to be setting up when they arrive.)

• Have photos of campus and other teammates to adorn the training space so that the environment is pleasant.

• Make sure all supplies are in place

• Try playing peppy music (“Be Our Guest”) to excite group as they enter.

• SMILE, SMILE!

Welcome to UMES, we are glad that you have joined our Hawk family.

What you do at UMES and how you conduct yourself is so very important to our university. We are an institution of higher education and we are striving for eminence. Here at UMES, we meet our constituents on a personal basis when they visit or contact the university.

Your every action (and mine too) is a direct reflection of our university.

So, as a member of our Hawk family, it is important for all of us to thoroughly understand our responsibilities, particularly our responsibility for guest relations—what we call Hawkspitality.

Thank you for making each day an opportunity to show your Hawk Pride and Hawkspitality!

How can you drive your car without switching lanes?

When you understand that the university is the focus, then the success of the university is your concern.

DOING WHAT IT TAKES TO FULFILL THE UNIVERSITY’S MISSION AND GOALS IS WITHIN “YOUR LANE”

Don’t be afraid to raise concerns regarding the impact of policies, practices or decisions that impact the university’s mission and goals...even if those are outside of your division or department.

Encourage teammates to be UMES brand and Hawkspitality Service Ambassadors

CUSTOMER SERVICE SCENARIOS

How would you resolve the issues?
A student needing financial aid comes to your office, but did not fill out the paperwork correctly and/or did not turn the information in to the correct person.
An employee that you supervise turned in an assignment late.
When completing a major report that is due to the supervisor tomorrow, a teammate decides not to stay late tonight with other teammates to complete the project.
After having been bounced around from office to office, an angry parent calls your office yelling and demanding a resolution to their situation.
While you are rushing to a meeting on campus, a lost guest stops you and asks you for directions.
A donor is upset because they have not received information on their endowment, nor have they gotten any thank you acknowledgement for their recent gift.
A student-athlete was suspended for off the court behavior but you are now receiving internal and external push back.

IMPLEMENTING HAWKSPITALITY

A Guide for Division/Department Leaders
Implementing Hawkspitality Campus-wide

- Identification of Hawkspitality Service Ambassadors (February 2014)
- Marketing Hawkspitality (February 2014)
  - Article in The Key (Feb 2014)
  - Website/Email/Social Media
  - Posters
  - Comment Cards/Boxes
  - Phone Directory with Core Values
  - Giveaways/Premium items
  - Visitor Center
Implementing Hawkspitality
Within Your Division/Department

- Introduce Hawkspitality campus-wide in February
- Incorporate Hawkspitality Core Values in office culture (staff break rooms, staff meetings)
- Give awards for staff that demonstrate Hawkspitality
- Be Hawkspitable:
  - Celebrate milestones
  - Host special lunches for staff
  - Give notes of appreciation to staff when they “do good”
  - Add staff personal goals to office goals

♦ GEM AWARDS

♦ Select an employee each month for “going the extra mile” in providing outstanding customer service. At the end of the year, these winners will be among the others campus-wide who will be in the running to receive the Hawkspitality GEM award.

♦ HAWKSPITALITY 5

♦ When you see that an employee has demonstrated the I CARE qualities, let them know. The goal will be to collect all 5 cards. Once they have received all the cards, then they can turn them in for a Hawkspitality prize!
